Planners Make Minor Changes On Abbot Academy Project

By Frank Messina

Phillips Academy will seek approval of a site plan for the renovation of old Abbot Academy at next week's Planning Board meeting.

Restoration of the 1800-period campus buildings cleared a major hurdle Tuesday when town planning staff offered no significant changes to the project at a review meeting with developer Rufus Choate and Associates.

"Some things need fine tuning," said Laura Hill, Andover town planner, "but it's going very smoothly at this point."

Other than trimming three units from the originally proposed 55 rental apartments planned for Draper Hall in order to allow fire vehicle access, the site plan is basically the same concept that was first unveiled in the fall of 1987, said Elaine Finbury of Rufus Choate.

"Outwardly, the only difference will be period lighting in front of the buildings and in the parking lots," said Finbury.

Hill expects the planning board to review the plan at its Jan. 24 meeting and make a decision when the board meets again Feb. 7. In between, on Feb. 2, academy officials will also apply to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a special permit to allow the apartment conversion.

Finbury will also present the

Officials Await Capital Projects List Before Making Town Budget Decisions

By Frank Messina

With several key reports unavailable, few firm budget decisions were made at a joint meeting of the Board of Selectmen and School and Finance committees Tuesday night.

Instead the group pointed to Feb. 22, when they hoped a list of capital projects and an accounting of state revenue would be available.

A small faction led by School Committee member Susan Poore supported delaying the April 3 town meeting until a prioritized list of capital improvements could be incorporated into a town master plan.

A master plan report is scheduled to be presented at town meeting, but town officials have said it is unlikely a completed master plan would be ready by then.

(Political Advertisement)

"If the reports aren't ready, we should seriously consider moving town meeting," said Poore.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony disagreed, saying he didn't "see any benefit to postponing town meeting" over the few warrant articles affected by capital projects.

A general consensus seemed to agree that $834,000 projected for capital maintenance projects should be spent. Previous policy of the joint committees stipulated that about $800,000 should be set aside yearly for upkeep of school and town property, although in some years, a

Children's Videos Available

Librarian Sarah Hassan takes a phone reservation for one of Memorial Hall Library's new videos.

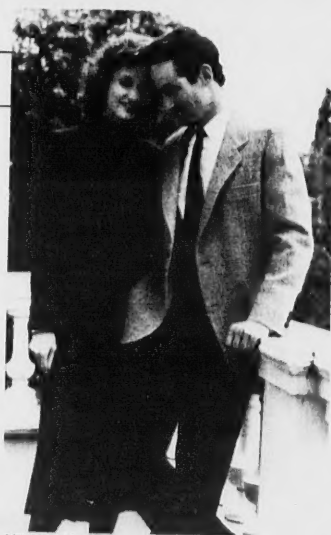

Ah, winter. When the kids are home, there's no snow for sledding, but it's too cold to ride that new skateboard and the game that was a delight a week ago has become a dandy focus for childish arguments, what's a mom or dad to do?

Memorial Hall Library has a first-class solution to the children's post-Christmas boredom problem: there are 15 new kids' videos on the shelves, waiting to be rented. For a small fee, a child can see favorite books on film, such as Beverly Cleary's Ramona: Perfect Day, Bad Day and the famous Mike Mulligan and his Steam Shovel. Also new are such classic stories and fairy tales as Teeny-Tiny and the Witch Woman, The Emperor and the Nightingale and The Ugly Duckling.

The library also has a host of films that have been around a bit longer, but are no less dear to the hearts of the young and very young: The Secret of NIMH, for example, or Goldilocks and the Three Bears, the Pippi Longstockings stories, Old Yeller and The Journey of Natty Gann.

Election Activity Slows

Prospects of a lively town election seem to have faded after an active start several weeks ago.

As of Wednesday there was little change in the ballot lineup with four candidates seeking the two three-year terms on the board of selectmen, two seeking the pair of vacancies on the school committee, a rematch for the town moderator position and a single candidate for reelection to the housing authority.

Those interested in seeking any of the offices available have until Feb. 13 to file nomination papers with at least 97 signatures of registered voters.

The ballot as of Wednesday showed incumbents Gerald Silverman and Charles Wesson being challenged by George Danneman and Jack Dziadul for selectmen; Moderator James D. Doherty being challenged by John Doyle for moderator; Andres Salazar and Christopher Outwin seeking the two school committee openings and incumbent Eileen Connolly the only candidate for a five-year term on the Andover Housing Authority.

Burning Season To Begin

This year's open burning season will be from Jan. 15 to May 1. Only brush and forestry debris other than commercial or industrial land clearing material will be allowed under the following guidelines:

1. Burning must be at least 75 feet from all dwellings.
2. A garden hose attached to a suitable water supply must be provided.
3. Burning must be carried out between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

4. Burning must take place on land that the material is being cleared from.

5. Notification of the fire department by the owner of the land is required each day burning is to take place.

For further information, call the Andover Fire Department.

To Honor Mrs. Collins

Bancroft Elementary School will honor Andover teacher, Mrs. Jane Collins, who is retiring after 29 years of service to the school, on Wednesday, Jan. 25.

There will be an open house in the media center from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. where present and former students, parents and friends may stop in to say "hello" to her. Refreshments will be served.

Financial Aid Form Assistance

The counseling department at Andover High School is offering help to parents of seniors in making out the financial aid form. Parents can make an appointment for assistance on Tuesday, Jan. 24, from 7 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. by calling the counseling department office. In order to accommodate as many as possible, parents are urged to have their questions prepared before the appointment. Bring the FAF form as well as any data about which you may have questions.

To Develop Shared House

The Andover Housing Authority has been awarded a grant in the amount of $680,000 by the Executive Office of Communities and Development.

Under Chapter 689 Housing for People with Special Needs Program, these funds will be used for the development of a shared house for eight adults to be planned in conjunction with the Lawrence office of the Department of Mental Health.

Plastic, Glass Pickup Saturday

By Virginia Cole

Bring all kinds of plastic and all colors of glass to the collection bin at the Town Offices parking lot Saturday, Jan. 21, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Don't say I don't have much glass or plastic to recycle. Look in your cupboard and see all the things stored in glass or plastic, or better still, walk up and down the grocery store aisles. There will be fruit juices, salad dressing, peanut butter, mustard, pickles, catsup, jams and jellies, all in glass. Besides cleaning products, detergents, etc., you will find syrup and some oils in plastic. In the refrigerated section are milk, orange juice, yogurt, cider, cheese dips in recyclable plastic. Two or three grocery bags a month can store what you have thrown away before. We will all save money and the environment from your effort.

Two plastic recycling plants are opening in Massachusetts. GENPAK Corp. of Glens Falls, N.Y., and Mobil Chemical Corp. of Stamford, Conn., are constructing the first plant in the country to recycle polystyrene foam products such as food trays, cups and containers. This polystyrene waste processing facility will be located in Leominster.

Energy Answers Corp. and Star Plastics of Albany, N.Y., have announced plans to privately construct a materials recovery facility in Rochester.

The regional materials recycling facility (MRF) being built in Springfield will be the beginning of a new age in recycling in Massachusetts. Fifty-six communities in central Massachusetts will be able to send all their paper, glass, tin and aluminum. It is expected to save $860,000 for these communities in the first year of operation. Although state sponsored, this facility will be run by a private company, Resource Recovery Systems of Connecticut. This company runs MRFs in New Jersey, Connecticut, New York City and Long Island.

The company will take the materials trucked to Springfield and convert them into products that can be sold to businesses that manufacture an end product or refine them further. They process mechanically without using heat or chemicals. One of their inventions is a glass processing machine which shatters glass in such a way that the glass goes in one direction and metal caps and labels go in another. They will separate tin cans from aluminum and then separate the aluminum again into two kinds from which they are made. The "tin" cans are almost wholly steel and are cleaned and flattened. Paper and cardboard will be separated and sold to companies which remove the ink. The end product may make more paper or go into paperboard (boxes).

The state will pay the plant a fee for operation, but will share in the profits generated and pass these profits on to participating communities. Of course, the big savings is the tipping fees now being charged at either incinerators or landfills.

The state contacted our Northeast Regional Incinerator (NESWC) and proposed an MRF for us. But, at that time, with none of the communities having mandatory recycling legislation and Andover the only one with a recycling program, we didn't get the nod. Now we must lobby our neighbors to come into this century before the next one catches up with us and work for an MRF.

Hospice Program Expands; Volunteers Are Needed

Merrimack Valley Hospice, based in Andover, is seeking volunteers for its newly expanded Hospice program.

Volunteers are an important component of the Merrimack Valley Hospice team. "Volunteers are the heart and core of any hospice program. They contribute in so many vital ways as they learn about hospice care, caring for the dying and the bereaved," said Susan Coburn, volunteer coordinator.

Merrimack Valley Hospice has an opening for an administrative bereavement volunteer to write condolence letters to families of Hospice patients who have died (two hours weekly). Additional openings exist for clerical volunteers to assist with various duties in the One Union St. office. Coburn added the hospice is always seeking to increase its group of direct service volunteers to work directly with patients and families in their homes.

Orientation and training as well as on-going support is provided by the hospice team. To explore these and other volunteer opportunities, call Coburn. Merrimack Valley Hospice is a Merrimack Valley United Fund agency.

Children's

Adults, too, get bored—and the library has racks of videos to entertain them. New films include Stand and Deliver, Anna, Da, White Mischief, The Lonely Passion of Judith Hearne, Jean de Florette and Manon of the Spring. Also available are classics like Casablanca and Citizen Kane; recent hits, including Good Morning, Vietnam and My Beautiful Laundrette; musicals such as Sweeney Todd and Grease; operas and comedy tapes.

The library usually rents its videos at a cost of $3 per film per week, two for $5 and three for $7. Patrons may take out a VCR for two days at a fee of $10. It's best to call ahead to reserve the machines and more popular films.

A number of films may be checked out with nothing more than a library card; call or stop by for a listing.

Memorial Hall Library also has Polaroid cameras that may be borrowed without fee (the borrower supplies the film).

This month, as it has since 1951, the Great Books Discussion Group will open its winter/spring session at the library with the first of eight biweekly meetings. Contrary to what one might assume from the title, the sessions are not reserved only for the extremely learned who devour and critique a massive tome every two weeks. Anyone interested in reading relatively short assigned samples of thought-provoking literature and discussing them with people who vary in age, background and opinion is welcome to join for one or many sessions.

Discussions are scheduled on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Readings are drawn from anthologies distributed by the Great Books Foundation, a non-profit, Chicago-based organization; many, plays or essays, for example, may be found on the library shelves. A copy of more difficult-to-find material or tracts which have been selected or abridged for the Great Books anthology may be obtained for photocopy at the library's community services office, located between the parking lot level entrance and the Children's Room.

The winter/spring schedule for discussions will be the Book of Job (from the King James version of the bible), Jan. 10; Utilitarianism (Mill), Jan. 24; Caesar and Cleopatra (G.B. Shaw), Feb. 14; The City of God (St. Augustine), Feb. 28; Symposium (Plato), March 14; Of Experience (Montaigne), March 28.

The Jan. 10 discussion will be held in the old trustees' room, located to the left off the elevator on the second floor of the older section, through Memorial Hall. All others will take place in the activity room behind the Children's Room on the lower level.

For further information, call Memorial Hall Library or contact Bob Rockwell at Merrimack College's McQuade Library.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

One problem in the early weeks after birth is when to give a bath. It shouldn't be right after a feeding when it could upset the stomach, or the chance for a good sleep. And it can't be managed when the baby is frantic for a feeding. Wait for a good-mood time, after about a week at home, and see how it goes for both of you. At least it will probably make you feel better to have your baby freshly bathed, even if he/she has made strong objections during the process. But maybe not; a lot depends on how adept you are.

You will find the furniture to suit your decor at TINY TOTLAND. We carry baby furniture by Simmons, Childcraft, Bassett & Morigeaux. Baby toys...everything from "heaven to seven". Open 9-5:30. # IF YOU'RE A BUSINESS IN SEARCH OF A BANK...

"... as soon as I realized I'd be dealing with the same familiar faces, all my concerns vanished." John Prentiss, DVM, Muddy Creek Animal Care Center.

Dr. John Prentiss (left), owner of Bulger Animal Hospital in North Andover, gives Don Schroeder, First Vice President, Commercial Loan Department, Shawmut Arlington Trust, a tour of his newly opened Muddy Creek Animal Care Center in Rowley. In addition to veterinary, grooming, training and boarding services, Muddy Creek Animal Care Center provides such specialized attention as care for young and geriatric pets, hiking and camping, individualized weight reduction programs, medicated baths, consultation for behavior problems, and more.

"A bank, like a veterinary hospital, is people," according to Dr. John Prentiss, owner of Bulger Animal Hospital of North Andover, and its new affiliate, Muddy Creek Animal Care Center in Rowley. "I like dealing with people who don't make my life confusing or hard — that's why I like Shawmut Arlington Trust."

Muddy Creek Animal Care Center was created to serve four functions: veterinary, boarding, obedience and grooming all at one modern, sanitary and convenient facility. It is the flagship for many more similar facilities using Bulger Animal Hospital as the nucleus. "My goal is to maintain the quality of service that has become synonymous with Bulger's," Prentiss said.

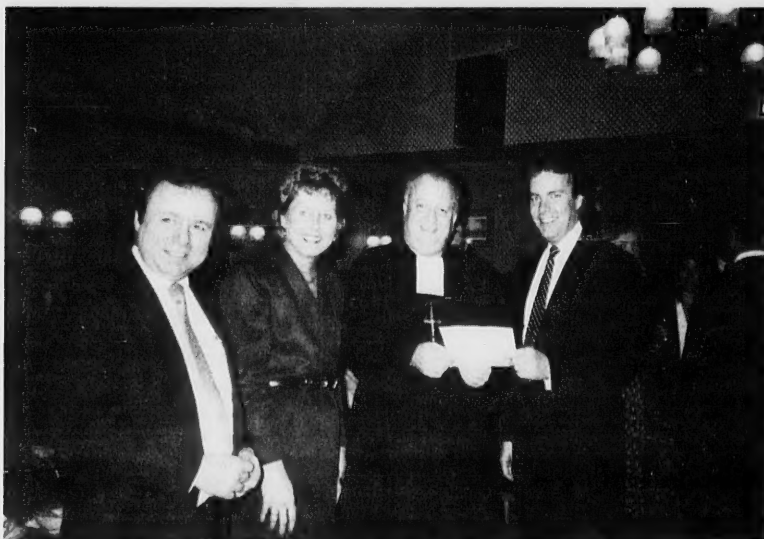

When Prentiss bought Bulger Animal Hospital in 1978, he assumed an existing note with Arlington Trust Company. Throughout the years, he established a working relationship with Don Schroeder, First Vice President, Commercial Loan Department, and others within the bank. The Shawmut Arlington Trust Company merger happened at the same time Prentiss needed funding to build the Muddy Creek Animal Care facility. "The change made me nervous — for about five minutes," he said. "But as soon as I realized I'd be dealing with the same familiar faces, all my concerns vanished."

Shawmut Arlington Trust continues the 100 year old tradition of serving the banking needs of businesses throughout northeastern Massachusetts. If you're a business in search of a bank, come to Shawmut Arlington Trust.

Exhibitors To Participate

Andover's annual Crafts-in-the-Park is accepting applications for its popular outdoor craft exhibit in Central Park to be held Saturday, May 13. Any craftsperson interested in participating may request an application through the Andover Community Schools office. The deadline is March 8. The applications will be juried by a special committee that screens the craft by photos, slides or the product itself. More than 130 exhibitors displayed their handcrafted artwork last year.

Crafts-in-the-Park is sponsored by the Andover American Field Service organization in cooperation with the office of community schools and is annually held the day before Mother's Day. Proceeds are used for scholarships to benefit worldwide exchanges between Andover and foreign students. For more information on AFS and Crafts-in-the-Park, contact crafts chairperson Mrs. Allen Maxwell and Mrs. Maurice Blais.

Instructors

The University of Lowell's division of continuing education is seeking qualified instructors for the community education program summer term May 30-July 3. Classes require a commitment of up to three hours one night per week for two to six weeks.

communication, health and fitness, language, dance and Lowell history and culture.

AT OUR SCHOOLS

'Heated Ice Skates' Among Student Inventions Up For National Awards

A life saver, night walking shoes and heated ice skates were among the imaginative inventions displayed last month by students of St. Augustine School who participated in the fourth annual Weekly Reader National Invention Contest.

"It was an exciting and tremendous learning experience for the children; they did an outstanding job," said Principal Marie Galinski. Each of the young inventors received a certificate from Weekly Reader for their participation.

St. Augustine students are among thousands of elementary, middle and junior high school students nationwide who participate in the Weekly Reader contest, designed to encourage creative and inventive thinking in children. The most outstanding inventions in each classroom across the nation will be sent to Weekly Reader for national judging.

Classroom winners at St. Augustine are Michael (life saver), Severin deValence (night walking shoes) and Kimberly Huse (heated ice skates).

National grade level winners and two grand prize winners will be selected by a panel and announced in January by Weekly Reader, which is published by Field Publications, Middletown, Conn.

St. Augustine School students Severin deValence, Michael Kish and Kimberly Huse display their blueprints of inventions that are up for national awards.

School Nurses Recognized

Wednesday is School Nurse Recognition Day, so be sure to stop by and say hello to the nurses and health aides who staff your school.

"They do a great job," said Andover's head nurse, Barbara Whiteside, who added that Andover is one of the few school systems that has full-time health coverage. The system employs a full staff of four nurses and seven health aides.

The health staff of the schools take care of injured and sick students, dispense required medication and, at the elementary school level, make calls to find out why absent students aren't in school, Whiteside said. They also administer hearing, vision and scoliosis tests and act as consultants to school faculty.

The staffers who will be celebrating Nurse Recognition Day along with Whiteside are Andover High School's nurse, Anne Wilkins, and health aide, Clare Doyle; West Middle School nurse Monica Costa and Doherty Middle School nurse Karin Taylor; the elementary school health aides, Bancroft's Jeanne Herman; Sanborn's Ruth Harrigan, West's Nancy Hevehan and South's Norma Morava; and Cheryl McGuire, health aide at the Early Childhood Center.

"I was always interested in the health field, and I chose Radiologic Technology at NECC because of its excellent reputation."

Rita began her career as an x-ray technologist immediately after graduating from NECC. "My classes and clinical experiences were perfect training for the wide variety of cases we handled at Lawrence General Hospital," she says, "Everything from kidney stones to child abuse cases."

Rita now works as a radiologist at Melrose Hospital. "I have progressed from general x-ray work to full-time C.A.T. scanning and am also doing some magnetic resonance imaging. It's fascinating."

Tips On Drug Abuse

Kid Net, a service of Brookside Hospital in Nashua, N.H., gives the following tips on what to do if you find out your teenager uses drugs.

First, examine your own attitude and behavior towards drinking, smoking or other drug habits. Be fully informed about drugs and alcohol, but don't lecture or moralize. Make it clear that you will not tolerate continued substance abuse. Back up your stand with clear and consistent rules of behavior and be ready to enforce them. Don't let the teen play one parent against the other.

Talk openly about your concern for the teen's well-being. Concentrate on developing an ongoing, open-ended discussion and spending more time with the youngster. Trust must be earned through caring. Avoid one-shot conversations or short chats between errands or appointments, steer clear of sarcasm and accusations and avoid discussions while your teenager is under the effect of a drug dose or when you're too angry to be calm. Avoid seeking sympathy from your child or engulfing yourself in guilt.

Experts seem to agree that grounding is the first approach to try: this should include a ban on telephone calls. Aside from forcing the teen to stay home, it will give you more opportunity for discussions.

If grounding and talking it out don't work, professional help should be sought, provided it doesn't substitute for your continued involvement. Be sure the counselor's attitudes on drugs coincide with yours.

Don't be afraid to be a strong parent. Don't be afraid to deal with the hard issues that can have a profound impact on your teenager's future.

For further information about drugs and alcohol or help in finding professional assistance for a troubled child or teen, call Kid Net, a free information and referral service. All calls are held in strict confidence.

Summer Programs Available

Some Andover students attended College Academy, a three-week summer program for bright students in grades four through eight at Bradford College in Haverhill last summer. An equal number attended College Gate, a program for bright students in kindergarten through grade three in Winchester.

Applications for the 1989 sessions of both programs are available now.

These enrichment opportunities for bright youngsters are based on the philosophy that learning is fun. Youngsters at College Academy elect four courses out of the 23 that are offered and attend four 75-minute classes each day. No class has more than 10 students. Many of the courses are multi-disciplinary and are not offered in traditional elementary schools. Medical Detective, City Desk, Actors' Workshop, Magic, Rocketry and chemistry are some of this year's favorites.

Youngsters at College Gate attend three 55-minute classes each day. Chemistry, Evening News, Superstructures, Buenos Dias and Computers are some of the offerings.

Since their founding by Dr. Joseph Harrington and his wife, Brenda, in 1979 and 1981, respectively, College Academy and College Gate have received the endorsement of educators, administrators, parents and bright and talented students. College Academy and College Gate will be held July 10-28.

String Quartet In Recital

The music department of Phillips Academy will present the Essex String Quartet in recital in the Timken Recital Room at Graves Hall on the academy campus Sunday, Jan. 22, at 3 p.m.

The program will include String Quartet in C Major, Op. 59, No. 3 by Ludwig van Beethoven and Quintet for Clarinet and String Quartet by Samuel Coleridge-Taylor.

Contemporaries of Samuel Coleridge-Taylor (1875-1912) regarded him as a celebrated composer and he was unquestionably a hero to his American audiences. Born to a physician from Sierra Leone and a British mother, Coleridge-Taylor was recognized early in life as a musical talent. A student at the Royal College of Music in London, his fame was initiated with the premiere of Hiawatha's Wedding Feast. His interest in Black American culture evolved from his own racial pride and was nourished by several important contacts in the United States.

Members of the Essex String quartet are Gerald Itzkoff and Michael Rosenbloom, violin, Catherine Consiglio, viola, and William Thomas, cello.

Itzkoff is concertmaster of the New Hampshire Symphony and Monadnock Festival Orchestras. He began teaching violin and chamber music at Phillips Academy in 1986 and was recently appointed resident music tutor and director of concerts at Dunster House, Harvard University. Itzkoff is a member of the Emmanuel Chamber Orchestra, the Handel and Haydn Society and the Griffin New Music Ensemble.

Rosenbloom plays in the Boston Esplanade Orchestra, is assistant concertmaster of the Boston Ballet Orchestra and a violin teacher at Phillis Exeter and Andover academies.

Consiglio received her master's degree from New England Conservatory and has been on the faculty of Oklahoma University, Rice University and most recently, the University of Connecticut. She has performed in orchestras in the United States and Central America and participated in music festivals abroad. She has played solo and chamber recitals in the New England area and for the last three years has been heard regularly on the Connecticut Public Radio.

Thomas received his bachelor's degree from Oberlin Conservatory and master's degree from Penn State University, studying with Richard Kapuscinski and Pierre Fournier. He has performed in the United States and Europe and is in his 15th year as chairman of the music department at Phillips Academy.

Clarinetist Eric Thomas will join the quartet for the work by Coleridge-Taylor. A member of the Phillips Andover music faculty, he also teaches at Phillips Exeter where he is the assistant conductor of the orchestra and teaches clarinet and saxophone at Brown University. Thomas is a graduate of New England Conservatory of Music and won his first competition in Los Angeles, Calif., in 1967. He won the Concert Artist Guild Award for outstanding chamber music performers in 1977 with his woodwind quintet, the critically acclaimed Quintet di Legno, which the New York Times called "quality multiplied by five." Thomas has received critical acclaim throughout the United States, Europe and South America as a soloist, chamber musician and clinician. He has been a guest artist with the Apple Hill Chamber Players for the past three summers and was invited to join the Montanea Chamber Festival as clarinetist coach in Grachen, Switzerland, this summer. Thomas has also been a member of the Boston Classical Orchestra and the Opera Company of Boston. His credits include Opera New England and the Children's Opera Company of Boston, both under the auspices of Sarah Caldwell.

The public is invited.

Shows Open At Gallery

The Howard Yezerski Gallery in Boston announces the "David Raymond: Cinnamon Steel" and "Virginia Brennan: More Pieces of the Puzzle" shows will be on view through Feb. 11.

Raymond is a sculptor whose work has reached a level of fluid and seductive maturity. Seductive here implies a compelling vision which sometimes playfully, sometimes reticently and sometimes violently reveals the underlying content of the work. Raymond has clearly identified his concerns and has translated them into brutal, yet elegant objects which he describes as "devices."

His cinnamon colored steel sculptures range from table top small to the humanly scaled large. The objects have a "medieval feel" in the way they visually conjure weaponry and combat. Yet they also have the look and feel of molten metal, hardened during a serpentine passage from foundry to sculptor's hands.

Raymond's most important concerns are the sets of dualities, or contrasts, possessed by each piece. The work is simultaneously capable of motion, yet bound by obstruction, as exemplified in a large wheel-based piece. The wheel resting on the floor is massive and steady, poised on the edge of heavy, graceful motion. Attached to it is a fiercely and abruptly halting object, itself graceful, like a limp body chained to a rock. The ever present and interchangeable combinations of stable and unpredictable, yes and no, black and white, stop and go. intrigue the sculptor and formulate the essence of his concerns.

Also included in the sculpture are pieces which are vertically oriented with the top sections closed off by a horizontal slab or table top. Suspended from the underside of the steel slab are an assortment of clean but ominous objects that look as if they should do thing, as if they might rip the sculpture apart were they allowed to do the things they could.

Raymond's work is potent with an energy feeding from the tense relationships he creates between the useful and abusive, the fanciful and brutal, the direction and obstruction.

Brennan's collages have been pieces of a puzzle she is constantly putting together. The puzzle is like a mosaic of the universe, mysterious, fascinating, warm and elusive. Choosing the pieces from reproductions of old master artworks, photographed landscapes, glossy advertisements and genre pictures, she fits them together into smaller versions of the whole, each new puzzle a new piece to the great one. The results are intimate panoramas with complex interior and exterior space, heightened by the watercolor wash which creates a veiled atmosphere.

Study of Brennan's collages leads to wonderment as to what combination of paths the artist has followed, leading her to a varied iconography, including perhaps a Venus and a grocer's shelf of potatoes, a galloping horse and a view of the Rocky Mountains. Yet somehow the compositions all work. Particularly in the newest pieces.

RELIGIOUS COMMUNITY

Indiana Minister Named South Church Senior Pastor

The Rev. Dr. Calvin F. Mutti of Evansville, Ind., will begin his ministry as senior pastor of South Church Sunday.

He will be the 16th senior pastor of the 277-year-old church. His wife, Karen, and daughter, Marci, 14, will join him in Andover. Son Michael will complete his senior year of high school in Evansville before entering college in the fall.

Mutti has been senior pastor of Bethlehem United Church of Christ for 15 years. Born in New Philadelphia, Ohio, he received his bachelor's degree from Heidelberg College in Tiffin, Ohio. He received his master of divinity degree in 1969 from Eden Theological Seminary and was ordained in the United Church of Christ.

Mutti became associate pastor of St. John United Church of Christ in Michigan City, Ind., where he was responsible for Christian education, youth and young adult ministries in a congregation of 1,400 members. After five years he joined Bethlehem United Church, whose Christian education program for youth and adults thrived under his supervision.

Mutti received his doctor of ministry degree in 1987 from Eden Theological Seminary, where he focused on the teaching and care-giving roles of the pastor.

"Adult Christian education will be the cutting edge of the church's survival," Mutti said.

Krister Stendahl, recently retired bishop of Stockholm in his native Church of Sweden (Lutheran), will speak on "Joy Gives Better Vision." ## Hometown Heroes

The trophy case in the downstairs hallway of Memorial Hall Library, opposite the Children's Room, is filled with the hardware garnered by the Andover National League All-Stars, the hometown boys who slugged their way into the Little League World Series finals this summer.

The exhibit, which is being loaned by team coach Red Harris and his son, Todd, will be in place for two months.

Short Subjects
"Films on Friday," a regular feature of the Children's Room, will begin Feb. 3 at 10:30 a.m. in the second floor hall of the old building. Young children accompanied by an adult are admitted without charge; registration is not required. A listing of the films is available at the desk in the Children's Room.

Great Books
The topic for the Great Books Discussion Group on Tuesday night, Jan. 24, will be Mill's "Utilitarianism." Discussions are open to the public; the group usually consists of 10 to 20 people who have read the relatively short selection.

Due to the generosity of the Friend of Memorial Hall Library, passes have been renewed for 1989 for the Museum of Science, Constitution Museum, aquarium, Children's Museum,

Peabody Museum of Salem and Museum of Fine Arts. New this year is a pass for the Transportation Museum in Brookline.

Women, Child Support & Divorce

If you are separated from your husband you may feel bound to accept your husband's determination of what is a reasonable figure for weekly child support payments, either because you are afraid he may fight you for custody if you do not accept, or because you feel a Court will not award you any more than he is offering anyway. Before you agree to something which is inadequate for your needs and your children's, you should contact an attorney who can advise you relative to your rights, your responsibilities and the standards a Court is likely to apply.

Decorating Ideas

HOME IS WHERE THE VALUE IS

For most Americans, the purchase of the single-family house is the largest expenditure they will ever make. Second place goes to the furnishings that contribute to make the house a "home." It is only fitting that the home and its furnishings place ahead of the third-place finisher, the automobile. While the vast majority of cars on the road only remain serviceable for about four or five years, many home furnishings can be considered appreciating assets. The home itself and any carefully-selected, quality pieces of furniture may well outlive their owners. They may also rise in value if their style is considered to be worthy and their workmanship is high-grade. Such pieces may be considered as investments. Even those that eventually succumb to wear will provide use that generally outstrips their original cost.

There is no question that the right kind of window treatments and wall coverings can add that final touch of distinction and practicality to your interior. We work with your ideas here at GORHAM'S DECORATING CENTER to achieve the ideal blend of materials and workmanship to match both your personality and lifestyle. plan, which has been strongly opposed by some neighborhood residents, at a community meeting tonight at Cooley Hall on the PA campus.

She said the meeting with town officials "went well. They made suggestions for details we hadn't thought of, like a television camera inspection of the sewer and improved signage."

Other aspects of the site plan discussed Tuesday included hooking up a water main from Phillips Street to School Street, "which will increase water pressure," said Finbury.

Complete access for disabled people will be provided, she said. "The entire building will be barrier-free."

A major neighborhood concern has been traffic control, a situation Finbury feels will be handled by prohibiting parking in the circle in front of the campus and requiring employees to park in designated lots.

A major fire access problem was solved when PA officials decided to scale down to 52 apartment units, said Finbury. An existing dining hall would have hampered access for fire vehicles to the back of Draper Hall. After exploring several options, the school and developer chose to simply demolish the dining hall.

The remaining dwellings will be rented as one- and two-bedroom apartments, with and without dens, and duplexes. Size will range from about 750 square feet to 1,400 square feet, said Finbury.

No estimates on rental rates have been established, but Finbury indicated the units were being developed as "high-end" rentals.

"This is really a good site plan. I'm very happy with it," Finbury said. "It's based on a lot of thought and discussion with town officials. I feel (the plan) protects open space, landscaping and the presence of the buildings. That's been our goals."

smaller figure was actually spent.

Mahony said between the school and town, maintenance could "easily" run over $1 million. About $100,000 would fix town building roofs and replace fuel tanks with the balance spent on school maintenance.

The town manager also pinpointed several warrant articles he planned to withdraw from the town meeting agenda. Included was a $500,000 proposal for aerial mapping of wetlands; a $750,000 request for water main installation at River Road; and $1.5 million for installing water meters.

Post Office Goes Smoothly

By Frank Messina

If there is a Murphy's Law for post offices, it should have been lurking in the corners of Andover's 52-year-old postal facility, waiting for an opportunity to foul up last weekend's move to a new building on Stevens Street.

Tony Mendoza, Andover's postmaster, had stuck his neck out, promising a smooth transition and no interruption of services. In short, he practically invited calamity.

But Mendoza met Murphy and in the end, planning and hard work apparently won out.

According to the postmaster, the move "went beautifully. One of my biggest satisfactions was that we didn't cut any services out. We opened the windows on Saturday and delivery went on as usual."

Mendoza credited many hours of overtime and literally two and a half years of planning with making the move successful.

Opening day on Tuesday was marked with a ribbon-cutting and ceremonial flag-raising. Town Manager Kenneth Mahony marked the occasion, commenting that the community was long overdue for a new post office.

Most customers were very excited and pleased by the aesthetics of the new building and the abundance of parking, said Mendoza.

He complimented the patience of postal box renters who came to pick up new keys. The amount of boxes available jumped from 400 to almost 2,000 and about 150 people showed up Tuesday to fill out applications for a new box, said Mendoza. A variety of sizes are now available with yearly rental fees running from $28 to $260.

In addition to the satisfaction of seeing the move go without a hitch, Mendoza received an additional bonus on Tuesday.

For the first time in two and a half years, Mendoza was able to walk into his own office. Sorely needing operating space in the old building, the postmaster and his supervisors gave up their offices and moved their desks into the basement.

With the new building measuring 16,000 square feet compared to 7,000 square feet at the old Main Street facility, "I finally got an office," said an obviously pleased Mendoza.

See photos of the post office move from Main Street to Stevens Street on next two pages.

Schools Serve Healthier Lunches

By Julie M. Barry

Eating right and staying fit are consistent themes in today's health-conscious society. And Andover's public schools are keeping up with the times, serving food with less sodium and cholesterol, says Richard Barron, food service director.

Recipes contain less salt and fat, he said. And salt and pepper shakers are not available. "The funny thing is kids don't really ask for extra salt," Barron said.

Cutting back has been fairly simple because of the number of low sodium products available. And to reduce fat, Barron said the schools are serving fresh fruit or canned fruit with light syrup. "We're not cutting out sodium and fat," he said. "We're cutting back."

Some junk food is still available at the schools. "If we don't serve it, they'll get it elsewhere," Barron said.

Reforming students' eating habits isn't the goal, said Barron. But the menus have become more healthy by reducing the amount of salt and cholesterol

Bancroft third-grade teacher Jane Collins will retire this month after 27 years in the Andover school system.

Retiring Teacher Reflects On Job

By Julie M. Barry

Almost three decades of teaching hasn't drained the enthusiasm from Jane Collins. She's still full of energy and love for children.

A graduate of Lesley College, Collins has spent 27 years teaching in the Andover school system, first at South Elementary School, then at Bancroft when the doors first opened 20 years ago.

"I've enjoyed every minute of it," Collins said. "I enjoy kids as much now as I did when I first started—maybe more."

She has taught every grade from first to fourth and is currently teaching third-graders at Bancroft.

That is until her retirement is effective Jan. 31. "It's been really fun," Collins said. "I am going to miss it."

In honor of her retirement, Bancroft is hosting an open house in the media center Jan. 25 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. for all current and former students and their parents and friends.

What will Collins do after retiring? "I haven't decided," she said. Maybe play grandmother to her five grandchildren—one born earlier this month. Volunteer work and substitute teaching may also be future endeavors.

The most gratifying part of her career, said Collins, has been "working with children, watching them grow and seeing them succeed."

Throughout the years, her job has been plain and simple—teaching children. And that means using any method you have to make them understand, she said.

Collins speaks about being an educator like a true veteran. "I don't think there is a difficult part," she said. "I enjoy seeing kids understand a new concept in something...it's a good feeling."

Her love for children and teaching was best expressed when she proudly read a letter from one of her students. "I'm sure I speak for the entire third-grade when I say I'll miss you," the letter read.

OPINION

A Memorable Day

Tomorrow is a rather momentous and memorable day as the 41st President of the United States, George H. W. Bush is inaugurated and assumes the awesome responsibility of directing one of the world's most powerful nations.

A rough campaign behind and political differences aside, the nation takes time on Friday's inaugural day to rejoice on the overall Democratic process, which allows a free country to choose their leaders.

And, while the nation joins in the festivities, there should be a certain sense of pride for us here in Andover in seeing a person whose love for this community has been self-evident over a number of years, attaining the highest office in the land.

Bush, of course, is a graduate of Phillips Academy.

Through that affiliation, he has returned to Andover on many occasions since his graduation in 1942.

In 1967, as a congressman from Texas, he was elected a trustee of the academy.

In 1971, as the new Raytheon plant in West Andover hosted the annual dinner meeting of the Andover Chamber of Commerce, Bush, then U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, was the principal speaker.

As National Chairman of the Republican Party he delivered a special address at George Washington Hall in October of 1973 on 'The State of The Political System in the U.S. Today.'

Other visits preceded his election as Vice President when he was honored by the Academy as distinguished alumnus and addressed a gathering of students, alumni and friends followed by a reception shortly after his inauguration.

As Vice President he has made at least two subsequent visits to the campus, meeting with faculty and students.

Over the years there have been several Presidents and Presidents-elect, who have visited Andover for varying reasons.

But none has been of such a personal nature as that of the person who will formally assume the Presidency tomorrow.

His stewardship has been served well in the various cabinet positions he has held and in the dedication to public service he has exemplified over the years.

As he assumes this most powerful, yet at times lonely office, we wish him well in keeping this ship of state on a proper course, with a certain knowledge that there is a little touch of Andover being thought of in the White House.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — January 1889

John H. Abbot of Big Spring, Neb. has sold the lot forming part of the John Abbot estate, containing about 13 acres on the corner of Phillips and Woburn Streets, to John H. Flint.

The building committee met at the new school building on Bartlet Street, thoroughly inspected it with one of the architects, and voted unanimously to accept it from the contractors. The building is built of brick with solid granite foundations. Its size is 60 by 80 feet, and two stories high, with a basement and an unfinished attic. The cost of construction came safely within the $20,000 appropriated at last year's town meeting.

Hugh O'Donnell of Ballardvale was before Judge Poor on Friday last for illegal keeping of liquor and was fined $75 and costs.

The "March meeting" looms up in the distance, and the Selectmen are receiving petitions as to special business to be introduced into the warrant.

The Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Company held its annual meeting on Monday afternoon and elected directors.

The concert by the choir of Christ church next Tuesday evening promises to be one of a good deal of merit.

Years Ago — January 1914

The fire department was called to the home of Colver J. Stone on Locke Street where the waterfront on the stove had blown out and live coals scattered over the floor had started a fire.

Dr. and Mrs. J.R. Fuller have closed their home on Central Street for the winter.

Miss Florence Richardson has been confined to her home for a few days with an attack of tonsillitis.

Representative S.H. Bailey has been elected a member of the committee on Agriculture for the 1914 session of the Legislature.

The Andover Equal Suffrage League held its second regular meeting at Mrs. James C. Sawyer's on Wednesday. The following talks were given: A Brief Survey of Woman's Legal and Social Rights under Roman Law, Canon Law and English Law; second, The Political Status of Woman in the United States Today.

The recently installed color bearers of Gen. William F. Bartlett Corps 127 are Mrs. E.R. Eastman, Mrs. W.A. Allen, Mrs. David Lindsay and Mrs. Omar Jenkins.

Arthur Johnson has been ill at his home for the past week.

50 Years Ago — January 1939

Bernard L. McDonald of Chestnut Street is spending three weeks' vacation in Havana, Cuba.

A few new nomination papers were taken out this week, but the field is still very small considering that there remain but two weeks in which to file papers. P. LeRoy Wilson took out papers for selectman. George F. Riley, Jr. took out papers for the Board of Public Works and Franklin B. Collins took out papers for the health board.

Plans for headquarters in the town hall are now under consideration by the Board of Public Works.

"Design" is the name of the current exhibition at the Addison Gallery, the fourth in the series of annual shows which are used partly for the art courses at PA and are also an answer for the general public to the question—what is Art?

There will be an organ recital in the Cochran Church of Phillips Academy by Mr. Ludwig Theis.

Fred E. Cheever is spending two weeks' vacation in the West Indies.

Movies Not Proper

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Many families move to Andover for its excellent school system, as we did also. Afterward we discovered it was school practice to show movies as rewards (special privilege) and before holidays. Children at West Elementary watched two movies the last week before Christmas vacation. We feel this is a practice which needs to be abandoned, both because it is a waste of our students' time and because there are so many activities better suited to our children's needs. Almost any activity would be better than movies. Just to name a few, however, there are storytelling, mask making or other art projects, creating small plays or dramatizing ones already written, educational games, etc. If the children are really excited and "off the wall," they can be given an extra recess or some active, directed play in the gym. While the community is agreed that our children should be taught reading, writing and math skills, we believe that most parents, given a choice, would not include movie viewing as an appropriate school activity (excepting educational films).

In addition, there are negative impacts to these movies that those showing them cannot anticipate. While we are sure these movies were chosen as being perfectly harmless, our younger child found parts of one frightening and had trouble going to sleep because of her "scary thoughts" after she viewed the movie.

We decided to air these thoughts publicly because we believe it is time the matter was opened up for discussion. We hope many other parents will take a few minutes to write or call their schools and school committee members with their thoughts on the subject.

Smoking Gun

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

I was horrified to read the statement by Everett Penney, Andover health director, in response to the radon level of 15 at the Shawshen School. According to the Dec. 15 issue of The TOWNSMAN, Penney said that when a radon level surpasses 200, it's dangerous. "I feel confident that there's no imminent threat to the public health," Penney was quoted.

"A Citizen's Guide to Radon," published by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, cites a radon level of 15 as carrying the same long-term risk of lung cancer death as smoking a pack of cigarettes a day or getting about one chest x-ray every day. This is not dangerous?

I agree that proper ventilation can effectively reduce radon levels and believe that a heat exchange system may be necessary to accomplish this economically. But to say that the current level is not an "imminent threat" to the health of the 5-and 6-year-olds who go to school at Shawsheen, some of whom are literally there from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., is simply not true.

How many of us would feel comfortable letting our kindergarten-aged children smoke a pack of cigarettes a day?

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The world will never ask again "Where is Armenia?" The world will never ask again "What is an Armenian?" This land of Mt. Ararat and Noah has become a symbol of anguish and sorrow as we dig through the ravages of this terrible earthquake. We sat at our mothers' knees and heard stories of atrocities too horrible to comprehend and were proud of our fathers who fought in a war to end all wars. We suffered the despair of a lost nation. Yet, we arose above our tears and disappointments—made homes rich in the heritage of our forefathers. We became good citizens wherever we lived. Armenians are not easily defeated. We have withstood generations of persecution and death. People around the earth have now responded to our plight. We are not forsaken.

Thank you, world.

Bird Survey

Help the Massachusetts Audubon Society learn more about birds that winter in Massachusetts by participating in their second annual winter bird survey Feb. 4 and 5.

The brief, easy-to-complete survey form includes a simple bird identifier to help name some of the birds that visit backyard feeders. By recording the number of each kind of bird at feeders, residents can provide important information to society ornithologists gathering data on winter birds in the state. Look for the survey form to be printed in newspapers the last weekend in January or call Massachusetts Audubon's toll-free environmental helpline to request a survey form.

SPORTING LIFE

Pothier Has All-Star Week

By Rick Harrison

Co-Capt. Matt Pothier put together an All-Star week with five goals in two games, including a hat trick, and the Andover High hockey team continued to earn respect as the Golden Warriors remained at the .500 mark following a 7-4 loss to Haverhill and 4-2 triumph over non-league foe Cambridge Rindge & Latin.

The split kept AHS at 4-4-0 overall, 2-2-0 in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference.

Andover returned to MVHL play last night against Wilmington (5-5-0) at the Wildcats' Ristuccia Expo.

Andover, 4-2

This triumph over Cambridge R&L was especially significant because it followed an emotional loss to Haverhill, a game AHS had won until an unfortunate 7½-minute stretch midway through the contest.

The Warriors whipped CR&L on its home ice as well, sending a hostile crowd at the Gore Street MDC rink in Cambridge home unhappy.

"Matt Pothier (three goals) had a tremendous game," said coach Mike Murnane, obviously pleased that the quick-skating first line forward had moved up to 11th place in the division scoring race.

The first of Pothier's two powerplay goals launched the Andover attack, sophomore Sean Darwin collecting the first of his three assists.

Pothier, who had 17 goals and 35 points last year as the Warriors' second leading scorer, deposited his eighth and ninth goals this season at 4:33 and 9:16 of the middle session.

Junior Randy Moreau set up the second AHS marker and Darwin assisted on Pothier's second powerplay tally of the game.

Cambridge countered with goals by Mike Renna and Clinton Roderick to remain close.

Sophomore forward Mike Ristuccia put a lock on the triumph with his third goal at 3:07 of the final period, assists to Darwin and junior forward D.J. Cammarata.

In addition to beating CR&L, the Golden Warriors were able to throttle their Division 1 college prospect John Roderick.

"He's a 6-2, 205-pound defenseman who can fly," explained Murnane.

Haverhill, 7-4

The Golden Warriors were prepared to use this game as a yardstick for their progress, having dropped an earlier 6-3 decision to the Hillies in the opening round of the North Andover Christmas Tournament.

The Hillies, 5-1-0 overall entering the contest, barely caught the license number of the Mack truck that flattened them as Andover raced to 4-1 lead midway through the second period.

Matt Pothier and Sean Darwin popped home two goals apiece, while the game plan was working to perfection.

"They're an excellent team with strong, balanced forward lines and a good goaltender (Sean Arcidiacono)," said Murnane. "We changed our forecheck completely for the game, made several other subtle alterations, and came out of the gate flying."

What brought things to a screeching halt was an error in judgment by an Andover player, who momentarily forgot the rules of discipline and self-control and took a minor penalty for holding and a costly major for head-butting.

The end result was a 7½-minute Haverhill powerplay, which carried over to the third period.

The Hillies capitalized with two goals before the end of the stanza, closing to 4-3, and then added two more before the penalty expired in the final period.

Varsity Swimmers Hit Top Teams

In its first two meets, the Andover High School men's varsity swim team ran head-on into the top two teams in the Merrimack Valley Conference. The 101-71 score doesn't indicate how close the Westford meet last Thursday really was as most races were decided right at the wall.

Corey Ouellette, Matt MacVicar, Chris Hart and Brian Mayberry were in second place in the 200-yard medley relay. Sophomors Geoff Schaaake and Brad Cronin were second and fifth, respectively, in the 200-yard freestyle while Sean Herlihy was second and Mayberry third in the 200-yard individual medley.

Tri-captain Hart placed second in the 50-yard freestyle in a sectional qualifying time.

MacVicar earned his first sectional qualifying score in taking second place in diving, missing first by only one point. From a non-scoring finish last week to a third place against Westford, Anthony Crooks is beginning to show strength and polish in his diving. So is senior tri-captain Scott Goddess who still managed to score more than 100 points and place fifth despite a questionable failed dive.

Hart posted a sectional and state qualifying time in the 100-yard butterfly taking second. Freshman Matt Jennings was third and sophomore Paul Mitchell fifth.

Tri-captain Ouellette captured the 100-yard freestyle in a sectional and state qualifying time. Chris DeMartino was fourth.

Schake took second in the 500-yard freestyle, posting a season-best time. Cronin was fourth with a personal best time.

Jennings took first in the 100-yard backstroke and Ouellette was second, both with sectional times. Mayberry was fourth and Herlihy fifth in the 100-yard breaststroke.

While points are scored only through fifth place, two swimmers who showed great improvement even though placing sixth were freshman John Eckels, who never swam a 500 free before last week and took 20 seconds off his time, and Mike DeMartino who carved three seconds from his personal best time.

Jennings, Schaaake, Fred Hohn and Herlihy were just touched out for the win in the 400 freestyle relay.

Hohn posted a personal best in his relay split. Mike Barrett, Tony Walcott, Chris and Mike DeMartino were third.

Coach Art Perdigo and assistant Abby Robb are encouraged by the improvement in their swimmers.

Hoopsters Split Overtime Games

By Rick Harrison

They may have to nickname the Andover High boys' basketball team the "Jekyll and Hydes" before the season ends.

Their play has been solid overall, but at times as mercurial as the temperature this winter.

Witness the Golden Warriors splitting a pair of overtime decisions and dropping a close game to Lawrence High recently.

AHS, saddled with one of the tougher opening schedules, stunned pre-season Large School Division favorite Lowell High 58-53 in OT, dropped a 50-45 verdict to Lawrence in regulation, and bowed 66-57 to Haverhill in double OT.

The composite record of those three teams to date is 19-6.

The Warriors' recent results have left them at 3-3 overall and 1-2 in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference.

Andover returned to MVC play last Tuesday night against struggling Wilmington (1-8), the schedule lightening somewhat.

Andover, 58-53 (ot)

Coach Tom Ryser's squad tied Lowell on a buzzer-beating three-pointer by John Russell, then carried momentum into overtime and won it on the free throw shooting of junior forward John Thompson and Russell.

"This was a game we weren't expected to win, especially since it was at Lowell," noted Ryser. "But the kids came up big and we got out of there with the W."

"The first play of the game we caught a break when their point-guard (Ken Martin) went down with an injury. Lowell isn't deep at that position. It opened up an opportunity for us, and we took advantage of it."

Andover inched ahead 10-9 after one quarter and led 22-20 at halftime.

Lowell bounced back in the third period, grabbing a wafer-thin 34-33 advantage entering the fourth period.

"We had a nice little six or seven point lead and could have put them away conventional style," said Ryser. "Lowell switched from its zone to a man-to-man defense. They haven't been an exceptional man-to-man team over the years, but for some reason our kids started to rush their shots and our seven-point lead quickly became a one-point deficit."

The Red Raiders built their lead to six points in the fourth stanza, but committed a couple costly turnovers and missed the front end of three 1-and-1's to enable Andover to climb back into contention.

Russell actually swished a pair of three-pointers in the final 30 seconds to force overtime.

"The game-tying three-pointer was the same play we set up for Johnny Perry against Central Catholic in last year's Christmas Tournament," explained Ryser. "He hit the shot, too, and we ended up beating them in overtime."

"It was an NBA three-pointer, a heave from the hashmark over the rafters and down into the hoop," laughed Ryser.

Another stroke of good fortune came Andover's way when Lowell standout Rey Serranopicked up his fifth personal foul and exited late in the fourth period.

"Stefan Tomlinson did a good job holding him off the boards and denying him the ball on the baseline," said Ryser. "That's where Serrano is most dangerous."

The game was tied 49-49 at the end of regulation, and the Warriors outgunned Lowell 9-4 in overtime with Thompson swished three free throws, Russell hitting a pair, and baskets scored by senior center Todd Musteraid and Tomlinson.

"The overtime was just a matter of superior execution," said Ryser. "We won the tap and went up by two. They came down and threw a lob over (6-7 center Ron) Reid's head. We picked off the ball and built the lead to four."

"Lowell came down and threw the ball out of bounds trying to isolate a player 1-on-1, and the rest of the period they fouled us on every possession. We made 5-of-6 and that was it."

"We stopped their fast break and didn't panic under their pressure defense."

Musteraid and Thompson led the offense with 15 points apiece. Thompson also grabbed 13 rebounds, while Musteraid contributed 10 rebounds and held the 6-7 Reid to just eight points.

Russell finished with 13 points, sophomore point-guard Matt Perry six, Tomlinson six and Chris Eggert two.

Serrano compiled 15 points, eight rebounds and three assists before fouling out, while junior forward Steve Ciavola added nine points, 14 boards and four steals.

Lawrence, 50-45

As encouraging as the Lowell victory was, that's how disappointing the loss to Lawrence became.

"After Lowell I expected we could get Lawrence, too," said Ryser. "But instead we wrapped the game up, put a nice bow on it and gave it to them. We beat ourselves, just as we did against North Andover in the (XMas) tourney."

"Our scouting reports on Lawrence were on the button. We knew exactly what to do but didn't execute."

"In the beginning we made a lot of foolish turnovers. I expected that because our kids have never played against that kind of speed and quickness before. You can't coach quickness, and you don't find that kind of competition or city instincts in a pickup game in Andover."

"We had a terrific mismatch almost the whole game with a 5-10 Lawrence kid covering Todd Musteraid (6-4)," noted Ryser. "We posted him up but couldn't get him the ball."

"We just played out of sync the whole game."

Once the Warriors shook the early jitters they went ahead by nine points, only to have the Lancers battle back.

"The bottom just fell out for no apparent reason," said Ryser.

Andover incredibly scored just two points in the third period while Lawrence netted 12.

AHS then came back with 22 points in the final stanza. With 20 seconds remaining the locals trailed by three, but had the ball and were looking at another potential overtime game.

"We couldn't get Russ clear for the three-pointer. They stole the ball and converted two fouls at the buzzer. We didn't give ourselves a chance to execute."

John Thompson was the only true bright light offensively for Andover with 18 points.

Stefan Tomlinson added eight points, Musteraid seven, Brett Hammond six, John Russell five and Matt Perry one.

Haverhill, 66-57 (2 ot)

Matt Perry hit the obligatory three-pointer at the buzzer to launch this game into overtime, and Todd Musteraid poured through 27 points, but neither feat was enough as Andover lost a heartbreaker to the Hillies.

The seesaw battle had Andover ahead 12-8 after one quarter, Haverhill up 25-19 at halftime, and the Hillies still in front 43-38 after three.

Perry's bomb from treyland tied it 51-51 in regulation, the teams struggled through a scoreless first OT, and Haverhill erupted to outpoint Andover 15-6 in the second extra session.

John Thompson contributed 11 points, Perry seven, Paul Lembo four, Stefan Tomlinson four, Chris Eggert two and John Russell two for AHS.

Musteraid also corralled 15 rebounds.

Lady Warriors' Express Slowed

By Rick Harrison

It was Jason, "Friday the 13th," Freddy Krueger and "Nightmare on Elm Street" all rolled into one, as the Andover High girls' basketball team suffered through a hellish week against traditional Merrimack Valley Conference powers Haverhill and Methuen.

The Lady Warriors' Express was slowed by consecutive losses to the undefeated Hillies, 72-52, and always-dangerous Rangers, 48-34, twin setbacks that left AHS at 5-3 overall and 3-3 in the league (third place).

The forgettable week also marked the end of a very rugged stretch for the locals, who by a quirk in the schedule had to play Haverhill and Methuen (composite 15-3 record) a combined total of five times in the first eight games.

"It was a disappointing week for the kids and the coach," admitted Andover skipper George Sullivan, whose team had edged Methuen twice before (44-42 and 43-39) in earlier contests.

"It was like we were in Never-Never Land for the two nights. We made a lot of mistakes that we hadn't been making up to that point.

"We'd better come out ferocious after a week like this," continued Sullivan. "This is about the same time we got hot last year, although there are no guarantees that it will happen again.

"We're through the toughest part of the schedule, and we still have a good shot at making the states. We just have to give it hell and see what happens."

First to feel the wrath of the Warriors, hopefully, was Dracut last Tuesday night at the Dunn Gymnasium.

Tomorrow evening Andover travels to play at Tewksbury, with the Redgals certainly no soft touch.

"There are no easy teams in the league," noted Sullivan. "Dracut gave a strong Lawrence team a hard time recently, and you can't take anything for granted against any of these clubs."

One important ingredient in a Warriors' turnaround this week will be improvement on the boards, both Haverhill and Methuen having outrebounded AHS.

Haverhill, 72-52

The Hillies, 9-0 after this victory and a state Division 1 finalist last March against Chicopee Comprehensive, put on an offensive show after being held to just 49 points the first time around against stubborn Andover (49-33).

All-Scholastic Katie Abromovitch, who poured through 25 points in the first clash, came back with 23 this time and had much better support from her teammates.

Center Beth Godfrey played well and guard Amy Paolino was an unpleasant surprise with 11 points and 13 rebounds.

Senior guard Lee Dziadosz continued her outstanding play for Andover, pumping home 22 points, while senior forward Julie Salazar added 11 and junior guard Jodi Jangro eight.

"We never led but we stayed within five points for most of the first half," said Sullivan. "We tried different things attempting to contain Abromovitch, mixing it up with a box-and-1 defense that was almost a diamond-and-1. We also kept our center up high in an effort to make it tough for their guards to shoot.

"Nicole Ricci actually did a pretty good job on Katie, holding her to nine points from the floor (four buckets, one three-pointer). But she also had 14 from the free throw line."

The charity stripe hurt the Warriors, as the over-aggressive Andover crew sent Haverhill to the line 40 times and watched them convert 31.

Two AHS players fouled out and several others were saddled with enough personals to make tight defense difficult.

The Hillies led 20-15 after one quarter, and it was still a close game with approximately three minutes left in the half.

"Lee (Dziadosz) picked up her third foul at this point and I had to take her out," explained Sullivan.

Her absence was definitely felt as the Hillies dominated the final three minutes and extended their lead to 17 points (40-23) by intermission.

The Lady Warriors stayed with Haverhill the second half, being outscored only 32-20, but the damage had already been done.

Juniors Kara Slavin, Kim Daley and Kelly Hajj added three points each for Andover, while Dee Dee Castinolic contributed two points.

Methuen, 48-34

It was Friday the 13th, literally, when Methuen created a nightmare on Shawsheen Road for Andover.

The Rangers, 6-3 overall but smarting from the previous losses to Andover, came to town loaded for bear.

"For some reason everyone seems to get fired up for Andover," lamented Sullivan. "When you play a good team like Methuen three times in this short a period — the odds are not in your favor.

"They brought a lot of vocal fans with them. The Methuen kids and their supporters were sky-high, and they played with great emotion and intensity that we couldn't seem to match.

"They used a box-and-1 on Lee Dziadosz and ran on us like rabbits. They hammered us on the boards, and it just seemed our defense was a half-step slower. We were reaching instead of moving our feet."

The Rangers led 12-6 after one period and 28-18 at halftime.

"We made a couple nice steals and were down only seven in the closing minute of the second period," said Sullivan. "But then we made a mistake and gave them a three-point play at the buzzer. It was that kind of game. We had trouble sustaining momentum and struggled to do things right."

The Lady Warriors held Methuen to four points in the third stanza, closing the deficit to 32-26, but the Rangers regrouped nicely and escaped on a 16-8 run over the final eight minutes.

Despite the extra attention Dziadosz still led Andover scorers with 11 points, while Kara Slavin was close behind with 10.

Nicole Ricci pocketed five points, Julie Salazar three, Kim Daley two, Liz Hanson two and De Dee Castinoli netted a free throw.

"Methuen outrebounded us 37-27 and that's not good," said Sullivan.

Jennifer Arnold was the catalyst for Methuen, scoring 15 points and keying the suffocating defense on Dziadosz:

Wendy Tamis also buried 15 points and Beth Pickles grabbed 15 rebounds for the winners.

Down The Years

The paper also won three other prizes during the annual Better Newspaper contest. But the General Excellence award is the toughest and the most sought after of all the prizes given during the competition.

Michael E. Brennan of Brook Street has taken out nomination papers for a three year term for the Board of Selectmen.

Headmaster John M. Kemper of Phillips Academy has announced that the school will open a new educational program in Barcelona, Spain, next September, called the "School Boys Abroad Program."

The Rev. W. Carter Johnson, pastor of the Baptist Church, will be tendered a farewell reception by members of the church Sunday in the vestry.

Money requests totalling over $700,000 are contained in special articles in the town meeting warrant. These and major zoning items appear to be the highlights of the annual document.

The Selectmen started last night and the Finance Committee begins tonight—the annual budget examination and review.

10 Years Ago — January 1978

Construction of a new East Junior High school would probably take place on a 65-acre, town-owned tract of land to the rear of South school, if current thinking prevails. Other possible sites include use of the present East Junior High-Doherty-Stowe school complex, town-owned land in back of Sanborn school and a plot owned by the town on Cross Street.

Mrs. Margaret Keck, a veteran of many years of service on the planning board, has submitted her resignation to Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark, to become effective Jan. 26.

Voters at town meeting may be asked to approve the sale of the Cardinal Cushing Gymnasium on Haverhill, a building acquired with Sacred Heart fields and initially proposed for recreational use.

The Community Services Committee has been invited to meet with selectmen to discuss possible reconstruction of the Lodge of Recreation Park.

A faulty wood stove is believed to be the cause of a stubborn fire which destroyed a barn on the Cavallaro property at 468 South Main St. Close to 200 rabbits, raised for meat and as pets, perished in the blaze.

Commuter Rail Fares Increase

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority Board of Directors has voted to increase fares on the MBTA's commuter rail system. One-way fares will be raised from 17 to 32 percent—40 to 75 cents per trip—depending on the distance traveled.

These increases, the first since 1981, were recommended by the MBTA Advisory Board in 1988. The advisory board, which has oversight responsibility for the MBTA's budget and is comprised of representatives of 78 cities and towns in the MBTA district, voted that the authority must recover a minimum of 33 percent of its operating expenses from fares.

"The only options," said MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary, "were to raise fares or to reduce service. Given a 100-percent increase in commuter rail ridership in the last five years, reducing service was unacceptable."

Under the current fee structure, the fare recovery ratio for commuter rail was only 28 percent. The new fares will bring that figure to 34 percent, an estimated revenue increase of $6.1 million.

The original fare increase proposal was to raise commuter fares by a flat 50 cents each way. However, after reviewing written and oral testimony from approximately 400 riders, O'Leary responded to public concerns that a flat fee was unfair. Instead, he recommended a new fee structure which was approved by the board.

O'Leary said, "Most of our riders who offered opinions on the proposed fares did not object to the idea of an increase, but felt that it should be equitably distributed. We, therefore, designed a new fee structure which ensures that those riding the longest distances pay a higher amount."

Prices of all single ride tickets will increase March 1. This includes discount fares for senior citizens, handicapped individuals, children and students.

Fare increases for monthly commuter passes will take effect April 1.

There will be a 50 cent surcharge if tickets are purchased on the train, effective March 1. The current surcharge is 25 cents.

Passengers should be advised that the design of the new commuter rail passes will be different in that only the zone will appear on the pass rather than the letter code and dollar amount. The monthly commuter rail passes are valid on all rapid transit, streetcar and bus lines.

Noreen Rourke has been an employee of Langford Seafood for over six years

Langford Seafood

Langford Seafood, owned and operated by Joe and Sandra (daughter of the founder) Lasonde, has been in operation at the same convenient location in Lawrence since 1944. After seeing the fantastic assortment of seafood displayed in this immaculate store, one can understand why loyal customers return and their reputation has spread so far by word-of-mouth. In addition to the large selection of seafood in the display case, one can buy prepared, oven ready stuffed shrimp, stuffed clams, lobster and scallop pie, scrod and haddock. On Fridays, hot fish chowder, English style fish and chips, scallops, clams and onion rings are available for takeout.

You may choose live lobsters from the finest selection in the area. The lobsters are on display in their new, large tank and range in size from chicken to big select. They will pack lobsters for shipment throughout the United States. If the customer needs advice or suggestions for serving the seafood, Langford's is knowledgeable and eager to help.

Because of Joe Lasonde's knowledge, experience and excellent reputation with the fishermen, he is able to sell the freshest fish at the best price, which is the current market price. Their modern, spotless on-site processing plant, operated by son-in-law Kevin Casey, facilitates this process.

Langford Seafood is centrally located at 229 South Union Street, Lawrence. hours are Mon.-Thurs. 7:00-5:00, Fri. 7:00-7:00, Sat. 8:00-4:00. Phone: 683-3791

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

By Ann Campbell, G.R.I.
Realty U.S.A.
Schruender Real Estate

SAFETY FIRST

When your home is on the market, it can be vulnerable to people who have no interest in buying it, but have a big interest in stealing some of its contents. Professional Realtors are trained to tell the buyers from the bad guys, so many of them prey on homes being sold "By Owner".

We screen buyers before we show them property, and we usually pick up the signs that a caller may not be a legitimate buyer. We go through our listings as we prepare to market them to make suggestions on how to minimize the security risks to our sellers. Some of our hints are obvious. For example, valuables should be packed away, maybe even in a safe deposit box, while a property is being shown. Silverware, jewelry, camera equipment, or anything else that is valuable and easily portable should be out of sight. We have security systems to manage keys, and your agent will have your family's safety and privacy in mind when you are working out showing instructions with you.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling a home, talk to the professionals at Realty USA Schruender Real Estate. Come by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover or call us at 685-5000.

School Lunch

and by giving students more choices—including healthy snacks.

The American Heart Association is committed to making food in Massachusetts' schools healthier. Programs have been developed by the association's "Heart-Healthy School Lunch Task Force." Andover took part in a workshop last fall designed to educate school food service workers about general heart health.

Reducing the level of sodium and fat in recipes is a goal in all the public schools. The number of choices, however, increase as the students get older. "In the high school, students are adults, and they should be able to have a choice," Barron said.

Elementary school children choose between a few hot and cold meals and can purchase ice cream on Fridays.

The middle school students have similar choices and a self-service salad bar.

The options are countless at the Andover High. Students may choose from a daily hot meal, hot subs, a self-service salad bar or a snack bar—serving soup, yogurt, donuts and everything in between.

A deli bar, which opened this year, is a hit at the high school. Six different fillings, including roast beef and seafood salad, and several different types of breads are available for students to create their own sandwich, which is accompanied by cole slaw, a pickle spear and potato chips.

8 Raytheon Workers Arrested In Suspected Drug Ring

A lengthy internal investigation by the Raytheon Corp. led to the arrest of eight employees last week for allegedly running a drug-distribution ring at the defense contractor's West Andover plant.

All eight turned themselves in Jan. 13 after receiving summons from police. A ninth suspect is being sought.

Undercover private investigators hired by Raytheon had purchased cocaine and marijuana from the suspects after posing as fellow workers, said police.

Raytheon administrators hired the detectives last spring after hearing reports of drug activity at the plant, which manufactures the Hawk and Patriot missiles for the federal government.

Police say Diomedea Rosario of Lawrence, who was arrested Thursday night after quarter-ounce of cocaine was found in her car, was possibly the ringleader.

One Andover resident, James Kataldo of 12 Bowdoin Road, was among those arrested. Others were Richard A. Ayotte, 39, of Lowell, two counts of marijuana distribution; Leo Routheir, 24, of Lawrence, one count of marijuana distribution; David Duquette, 28, of Lawrence, three counts of cocaine distribution; Robert Geter, 41, of Lawrence, one count of cocaine distribution; Cheryl Dube, 24, of Derry, N.H., two counts of cocaine distribution; and Cheryl Pappalardo, 34, of Lawrence, three counts of cocaine distribution. All were arraigned in Lawrence District Court last Friday.

Police are still searching for co-worker Victor Pike.

The food service program is self-sufficient and brought in about $700,000 last year, Barron said. This money is used to purchase food and equipment and to pay employees. Part of the revenue comes from the student lunch fee of $1. And it is partially subsidized by the federal government. The U.S. Department of Agriculture supplies some food.

Teacher

As Collins was reading the note, she was quick to notice the student had written her "I's incorrectly and said "we'll have to go over that."

Being an Andover resident all these years has given Collins the opportunity to know students both in and out of the classroom. This was especially true when her two children attended elementary school.

Since then, she has taught some second generation kids—that is, children of former students. It can come in handy. Collins recalls a student who wasn't sure which bus to take home. But she knew where to lead him. Unbeknownst to him, he was the son of her daughter's friend.

Being around for so many years, Collins has witnessed some changes.

Recalling the move to Bancroft in April of 1969, Collins said the building wasn't completely finished. "They were literally putting down cement sidewalks," she said.

The staff used the outdoor construction activities as teaching tools, said Collins, who remembers teaching the children how to take measurements outside.

A slew of teaching philosophies have come to the forefront since she began teaching in the early '60s. But most of the time, your teaching style is adapted to your young students, according to Collins. "You pick up from where the children are and take them from there," she said. "And," she added, "You don't miss any loopholes."
